

My House Road Signs

Using construction paper, make various road signs. You can create a stop sign, a merge sign, a yield sign, or a hospital sign (among many). After you make the signs, figure out where you would hang those signs around your house. For example, maybe the merge sign could go by your dinner table where everyone comes together to eat. Perhaps, the stop sign could go next to your front door, where you stop to take off your shoes. Keep the signs up all month and talk about how different signs mean different things and that we need to be good listeners in following traffic (and house) rules.
