

Color Car Graph

What color is your family car? What color is the car that your grandparents drive? What about aunts, uncles, friends, teachers or neighbors?

Create a color car graph and see which color is the most common. Next time you're in the car, count the different colors of cars that you see and add them to your graph.

Lastly, have your child draw a picture of the car that they want to drive when they grow up? What color is it going to be? Where will they go? Who will they drive around?
